

MANY FIREMEN DIE UNDER THE WALLS.

APPALLING CALAMITY AT A FIRE IN CHICAGO.

Two Score Badly Injured—Explosion of Grain Dust in the Northwestern Elevator Responsible for the Death of Three Men—Financial Loss Over $100,000.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Three firemen were buried under the brick walls of the exploding Northwestern elevator Thursday afternoon and killed. One other man was thrown into the Chicago river and drowned, and many persons were injured. The explosion was caused by grain dust, which ignited while the firemen were at work on the burning structure. The total loss is estimated at more than $100,000. The list of the dead and the injured follow: The dead.

JOHN J. COOGAN, pipeman engine company No. 3.

JACOB J. SCHNUR, pipeman engine company No. 3.

JACOB F. STRAMEN, pipeman engine company No. 3.

UNKNOWN MAN, thrown into river and drowned.

The injured:

Thomas Mulcahy, Joseph Lacey, Frank C. Hawley, Chas. Conway, Capt. Martin Lacey, Lieut. John J. Miller, John Hantz, Wm. Hanley, Wm. Rooney, John Evans, Harry Kungelman, Wm. Schubert, John Hassey, Lieut. John F. Smith, Pipeman Thomas Engel, Pipeman Thompson, Pipeman Harry Shaw, Lieut. Frank Donagan, Miss Lena Machowitz, Capt. Bowman, Minnie O'Malley, Capt. John Evans, Ignatius Bond, Capt. Falvey, Lieut. Frank Nigg, John McGuire, Capt. O'Malley, Lieut. Flynn, Pipeman James Byrnes, Pipeman W. H. Shannon, Lieut. Cunningham, Commodore James Barry, Griffith Humphrey, Marshall William Musham, Thomas Henriks, C. F. Walter, John J. Bergman, Lieut. Michael Noon, Chief Denis Swenke, Fire Marshal Campion, Lieut. W. H. Bartlett, Assistant Engineer Benjamin Blanchard and William McGuire.

The origin of the blaze that proved so costly to life and property alike is believed to have been in the vicinity of the boilerhouse. Accumulated dust, as dry and inflammable as gunpowder, that had been piling up for years, found a ready means to give the first tiny blaze a good start. Then with rapidity almost beyond belief it spread, and a moment later a terrific explosion resulted, completing the work of scattering the flames throughout the entire structure.

Just as the firemen were getting in shape to do advantageous work, some being on the roof and nearly all of the steamer company No. 3 in the act of mounting ladders and bringing several leads of hose to play on the interior from the upper windows on the west side, there came a roar that could be heard for half a mile, and a second explosion followed that raised the roof high in the air and sent the walls crashing down on the helpless men below.

The force of the explosion was so great that the eastern wall was hurled into the river, the west wall was tumbled down upon the heads of the unfortunate men below, and the roof was torn into mighty fragments and distributed for blocks around.

Every window in the vicinity of the elevator was shattered by the concussion, dozens of persons were struck by flying debris, and several small fires resulted from falling timbers that were still in flames.

The explosion stunned the firemen and police momentarily, and when they became reorganized and made an effort to reach their dead and dying comrades, the heat was so intense that for some minutes it was practically impossible.

Then followed heartrending scenes and acts of bravery. Dozens of men lay injured in the withering heat crying for help, some but slightly injured, others suffering the throes of death. The dead lay baking beneath blazing timbers and red-hot, smoking wreckage.

As though moved by a single thought, the uninjured rushed into the debris without any regard for personal exposure to danger and dragged forth the helpless victims. The bodies of the dead were for the time being beyond the reach of living man.

By the most strenuous efforts on the part of the firemen the freighthouse was saved from destruction, while employees of the railroad company rushed in among the flames and smoke, and with three battered switch engines, dragged out the charred and blistered cars.

The explosion was, to quote the language of Chief Swenke, "one of the most terrible things his men have ever had to contend with."

Silently and grimly the firemen fought the flames while their fellows were removed to hospitals. Dozens of the firemen stuck to their posts though suffering from injuries, and several dropped from exhaustion as they worked.

The combined forces of the engine companies and two fire tugs managed to prevent the spread of the flames, and by 7 o'clock the fire was under control.

Attention to the Labor Leaders.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Governor Atkinson of West Virginia has written to the miners' officials that they have the right to assemble peacefully in any public place to discuss labor questions and urge men to strike. He says he will protect them in such right, but warns them not to incite riot.

City Clerk of Evanston Gone.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Self-confessed as an embezzler City Clerk George Bogart, of Evanston, owner of five business establishments and a political leader, has disappeared. In two months, according to Mayor Dyche, he has taken from the vaults of the City Clerk's office $8,583. Of this, the Mayor says, he made a complete confession early in July, and on Wednesday afternoon, on the eve of a conference which was to have straightened his difficulties and placed him again on a firm financial standing with the City of Evanston, he disappeared. It is believed he has committed suicide.

Threaten a Strike on Grand Trunk.

Montreal, Que., Aug. 6.—A committee representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Order of Railroad Conductors, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trackmen, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen has been in conference with Superintendent McGuigan of the Grand Trunk railway system since last Monday in an effort to settle many grievances against the management. Up to last night no agreement had been reached, and the members of the different brotherhoods have been notified they may "look out for trouble ahead."

Admit Britain's Title to Klondyke.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Incited by the newspaper publications recently tending to throw doubt upon the ownership of the Klondyke gold fields, some of the high government officials, who would naturally be expected to deal with the question if it comes to a practical issue, have been quietly looking into the matter with a view to preparing themselves for any controversy that might arise. Their views are in substance that there can be no valid objection advanced to the title of Great Britain to this territory.

Government Sends an Expert.

San Francisco, Aug. 6.—Samuel C. Dunham, statistical expert of the United States department of labor, is here en route to the Klondyke gold fields, for which he will leave on the steamer Humboldt next Monday. His mission is to ascertain the economic conditions of the country in this comparatively unknown region and prepare the necessary data for a bulletin, which the department proposes to issue about March 1 next.

Small States Fear the Larger.

Melbourne, Aug. 6.—The discussion of the Australian federation bill in the colonial parliaments reveals the existence of an important anti-federal section. The crux of the difficulty is the question of securing the rights of the smaller states without depriving the others of the advantages which should be theirs from the fact of their larger populations.

Umpire Hurst Arrested.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 6.—Umpire Tim Hurst, of the National Baseball League, who is wanted in Cincinnati for assaulting a man with a beer glass at a recent game of ball there, was arrested Thursday and is in custody at the Four Courts awaiting the arrival of an official to take him back to the Ohio metropolis. Bail was refused.

Favorable to Peace.

Montevideo, Aug. 6.—A great popular meeting was held here Thursday, when addresses were made by well-known speakers, who advocated the conclusion of peace with the revolutionists. Resolutions to this effect were carried by a large majority and the opinion of the meeting will be brought formally to the attention of the government.

BAR THE CHINESE FROM THE ISLAND

HAWAIIAN GOVERNMENT WILL NOT ADMIT THEM.

Open Defiance to the East—Government of the Island Takes a Step Which Will Advance the Cause of Annexation—Another International Complication Threatened.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 6.—The news that Hawaii had virtually excluded the Chinese is confirmed by Honolulu advices brought by the Australian.

When the annexation proposition was made to the United States one of the principal clauses was that Chinese immigration should cease. As a start in this direction the Hawaiian government has decided to issue no more six-month residence permits to Chinese or to execute any bonds for contract laborers to arrive.

The planters do not fear the labor problem. In fact, they are already solving it and that to the detriment of the Japanese. Recently there have developed plans for colonizing the American plantation negro in Hawaii to gradually replace the coolies in the cane and rice fields and on the coffee and cotton plantations.

The German ship H. F. Glade arrived in Honolulu July 26 with nearly 300 contract laborers. They will supplant the Japanese on the sugar plantations. This crowd consisted of 115 laborers, twenty-five women and forty-seven children. The nationalities are mixed, there being many Poles, Gallicians and Australians, as well as Germans. They will be placed on nine plantations, the contracts showing that the men are to be paid $16 a month the first year, $17 the second and $18 the third, in addition to the regular food and lodging given by the plantations.

COMPARISON OF TARIFF BILL.

Value of Articles Transferred to Dutiable List Over a Hundred Millions.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The completed comparison of the tariff bill, prepared by Mr. Charles H. Evans, the tariff expert, has been made public. The following are some of the comparisons, in addition to those given last week.

The average ad valorem duty of the flax, hemp, and jute schedule is lower in the new law than in the Wilson bill. That of the Wilson law was 46.94 per cent. The present law is 45.18 per cent. The average ad valorem of the pulp, paper, and book schedule under the present law is 30.30 per cent. Under the Wilson law, 22.18 per cent.

The average ad valorem of the sundry schedule under the Dingley law is 23.35 per cent; under the Wilson law it was 24.79 per cent. The total value of articles transferred from the free list to the dutiable list is placed at $101,986,941. Only two articles were transferred from the dutiable free list. These were coconuts in the shell and sheep dips.

MAY LYNCH BONS.

Residents of Crystal Falls Excited by His Confession of Murder.

Crystal Falls, Mich., Aug. 6.—Peter Bons has made a confession of the murder of Pearl Morrison. He confided his story to a Chicago detective who has been palming himself off as an attorney from Iron River and claimed to be friendly to Bons. The town is greatly excited, and there is danger that the prisoner may be lynched. He makes no pretense of feeling regret, but, on the contrary, boasts of his former crimes and threatens to commit others. Although this is his first murder, he says it will not be his last if he gets out of jail. He also says that he feigned insanity so as to get into an insane asylum.

Head Office Stays at Fulton.

Fulton, Ill., Aug. 6.—A decision in chambers by Judge Bigelow of Henry county confirms the injunction against the removal of the office of the head clerk of the Modern Woodmen of America from Fulton to Rock Island. The facts that Fulton was intended as the permanent headquarters in the beginning, that the citizens of this city gave the services of a head clerk and office room free the first year, purchased the furniture and the official seal and paid for the charter are considered in the decision. The case now without doubt will have to be carried into court sooner or later.

Cretans Want Autonomy.

Canea, Island of Crete, Aug. 6.—The belief of the Cretans that Djevd Pasha, the new military commandant, is really charged by the sultan with instructions to wreck the autonomy scheme has had at least one very important result. The deputies representing the principal provinces have sent to the foreign admirals an official declaration accepting autonomy and expressing a desire that the Turkish troops should be withdrawn from the island.

Judge Samuel McGowan Is Ill.

Abbeville, S. C., Aug. 6.—Judge Samuel McGowan, for many years chief justice of the Supreme Court of South Carolina and one of the most distinguished survivors of the old school of Carolina public men, is seriously ill at his home here.

SEND FOR NEGROES TO WORK MINES.

DE ARMIT SAID TO BE PLANNING A NEW COUP.

Idea Is to Colonize Diggers—The Belief Gains Weight That He Will Try to Defeat the Strikers by This Means—Rioting Would Almost Certainly Ensnare

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 6.—De Armit's mines are tied up as completely as the strikers can do it without resorting to coercion. The "true uniformity" man admits that his operations are practically at a standstill, and he makes vague threats that something will be done soon to throw the contest in his favor.

A belief is gaining weight here that De Armit intends to colonize negroes from West Virginia to man the mines of the gas coal company. This purpose if carried out, would greatly enrage the camps of crusaders, and might provoke outbreaks in spite of the strict discipline.

It is reported that Mr. De Armit will bring 300 negroes from West Virginia. If he does there are threats that they will never land in the mines unless troops are called out to protect them.

Eviction of strikers from company houses has been begun by the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Company. A house to house canvas is being made and when a miner announces to the company official that he is on strike the notice to quit the premises in five days is served.

Eugene V. Debs and Mrs. Mary G. Jones, of Chicago, were the principal speakers at the miners' mass-meeting in the interest of the strikers on the Duquesne wharf. It was estimated that from 10,000 to 15,000 people were in attendance. Resolutions upholding the strikers and denouncing W. P. De Armit were adopted with a shout that could be heard several miles up the Allegheny river. Mr. Debs and Mrs. Jones will address a mass-meeting of citizens of the Turtle Creek valley to-night. Both are confident the miners will win.

MINE WORKERS MEET.

Convention Opened at Springfield, Ill.—Many Delegates Present.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 6.—The state convention of the United Mine-Workers of America was called to order in the hall of the house of representatives by State President James M. Carson, with 128 delegates present. Not much business was transacted, except the organization of the convention and the appointment of the committees on scale, resolutions and rules, and an adjournment was taken till this morning to allow the committees to prepare the reports.

A resolution was adopted to send organizers into places where coal was being mined, and the secretary was instructed to draft a resolution requesting a total suspension of work in Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Kentucky, Colorado and Wyoming. A resolution was ordered prepared which will be presented to the convention denouncing Judge Jackson and all others who by injunction have "invaded the right of free speech and lawful assemblage."

GAINS IN INDIANA.

Strikers Are Much Encouraged—Suffering in the State.

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 6.—State Secretary Kennedy of the miners received the following Thursday from State Vice-President Llewellyn, who is in charge of the marching movement on the mines in the southern part of the state, where the men have continued at work: "Hartwell, Petersburg, Little's, Ayreshire and Jackson all out. Booneville next."

This means that 400 men came out from mines where never before was there a strike. At Booneville, Evansville and Newburg 200 men are at work. But it is expected Booneville will be out soon, and that Evansville will join without being visited by the crusaders.

The actual suffering from hunger has begun in this state, as the relief funds are exhausted. The breweries are giving flour and plain-food products freely. Heretofore they sent wagon loads of beer to mining camps, but this time they have not and will not give a keg

Jubilant Over Their Success.

Princeton, Ind., Aug. 6.—The striking miners of south Indiana are jubilant. For forty-eight hours they have entreated the miners in the big Ayreshire and Carbon mines to come out. Their efforts were in vain until yesterday morning when all the men in both mines joined the strikers. A delegation left Ayreshire for Booneville to urge the men there to come out. By the closing of Ayreshire and Carbon mines a large supply of coal is cut off from St. Louis and Chicago.

Debs Summoned to Court.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Aug. 6.—Judge Jackson has issued writs for Debs and the others against whom injunction was served, to appear Sept. 2, to answer the complaint of the Monongah Coal company. There are forty of the defendants.

Strikers Stall a Train.

Princeton, Ind., Aug. 6.—A delegation of seventy miners attempted to ride on a freight train on the Evansville & Indiana railroad, and Superintendent Corbett ordered the train sidetracked at Elmore. The men determined to ride to Evansville, where they will try to get more recruits, and start on a tour through southern Indiana.

DEATH IN WEDDING FROLIC.

Four Are Suffocated During a Fire in a Cincinnati Restaurant.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 6.—Otto Adler kept an all-night restaurant in the lower story of the house in which three men and one woman perished in a fire Thursday morning. The dead:

EZRA ROUSE.

ARTHUR GUTH.

NELLIE BENNETT.

ROY CARR.

There were seventeen men and women in one room in the second story of this house. The occupants of the building refuse all information. None of the dead was burned. They were suffocated by smoke from the fire in adjacent rooms. The only exit for escape was blocked by a bath tub set up on end at the head of the stairway. The smoke came from an adjacent room, where the fire was soon extinguished.

It seems that it was a wedding frolic, in which Guth, one of the dead men, was the bridegroom, and the daughter of Landlord Adler was the bride. The celebrants of the wedding used beer and cigarettes freely, and it is now supposed cigarettes started the fire and that beer caused the somnolence which, with the up-ended bath tub, was the indirect cause of so much fatality.

Sees Danger of War.

London, Aug. 6.—The Morning Post renews its attack upon the government for yielding to the United States in the seal controversy. It says: "Lord Salisbury is probably afraid of the United States, but the British nation does not share that fear, and any ministry convicted of it would be out of office within a week. The American war party will make the most of the triumph and will soon find fresh cause for quarrel. We may become involved in war before we think." In another editorial the Morning Post complains of Mr. Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, for denouncing the commercial treaties with Germany and Belgium and thus making enemies for England in Europe.

May Hold Two Meets.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 6.—Perhaps two national meets of the League of American Wheelmen will be held next year. At any rate, the good things in the scheme will be laid before the national assembly at its next meeting. By the holding of two meets in opposite spots of the United States map it is thought better satisfaction will result. Omaha is begging for the '98 meet and Indianapolis is determined to get it. The continuous rain has spoiled all plans for racing so far. John S. Johnson and Arthur Gardiner will each go for the mile record to-day. The record is now held by Hamilton. Hamilton will go for the half-mile.

May Have Yellow Fever.

Washington, Aug. 6.—The surgeon-general of the marine hospital service has been informed by wire of the capture Thursday of three Cuban refugees at Punta Gorda, on the coast of Florida, who are suspected of having yellow fever. The capture was the result of the coast inspection service of the state and the national government. The suspects were sent to the quarantine station at Charlotteville harbor for detention.

Gov. Drake Improving Rapidly.

Ottumwa, Iowa, Aug. 6.—Dr. Sawyer, of Centerville, the son-in-law and physician to Governor Drake, telegraphs that there is no truth in the report sent out from this city that Governor Drake was dying. He says Mr. Drake has never been in a critical condition, that he is improving rapidly, and expects soon to go back to his duties at the capital.

Call to Ohio Gold Democrats.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 6.—The State Central Committee of the gold Democrats has issued a call for a State convention here Sept. 8. The basis of representation will be one delegate for each 1,000 votes cast for Mr. Cleveland for President in 1892. This will make a convention of about 400 delegates.

Michael Herbert Is Chosen.

Whitewater, Wis., Aug. 6.—[Special]—On Saturday last, Mrs. Dooley of this city, received a letter from her daughter in Chicago, saying that she would be home on Tuesday, and had drawn $200 from the bank.

Die in Colorado Flood.

Denver, Col., Aug. 6.—The heavy rains which have fallen every day this week have caused many thousands of dollars' damage in and about this city. Several bridges across Cherry Creek have been washed away. Patrick Murray, a laborer, was thrown into the creek by the caving of a bank on which he was standing to watch the flood and was drowned. An unknown man who attempted to ford the creek on horseback was almost swept away. Trains are much delayed on account of the damage to roadbeds, bridges and culverts.

Over Fifty Thousand in Line.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 6.—From information received by Secretary Turner of the Citizens' G. A. R. committee, 53,529 veterans will participate in the grand parade during the national encampment. New York heads the list with 15,000 veterans. Pennsylvania follows with 8,000, while the estimates from Illinois, Ohio and Massachusetts are 5,000 each. The state divisions will march in the order of the organization, with the exception that New York will bring up the rear out of courtesy to the visitors.

For Trade with Alaska.

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 6.—Dodwell, Carll & Co. of Honk-Kong, together with a number of Tacoma capitalists, have organized a steamship company and will compete for Alaskan trade, with company headquarters at Tacoma. The new corporation has chartered the steamer City of Seattle, which will leave here Aug. 15, with accommodations for 500 passengers and with a freight capacity of 600 tons. The company will also put on two other steamers.

Britain Lost on Tin Plate.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Consul Parker at Birmingham has furnished the department of state with a copy of a report made to the British ambassador, Sir Julian Pauncefote, by Hugh J. O'Beirne, his second secretary, containing a review of the growth of the tin-plate industry in the United States. It shows that the tin-plate sales from England have fallen off one-half since the McKinley tariff act was passed and that the American production is steadily increasing.

Kremontchug is 64 miles by rail southeast of the city of Poltava, in the section of little Russia.

Bishop Potter Offers Help.

New York, Aug. 6.—Bishop Potter returned from a three months' trip in Europe Thursday. Questioned regarding the labor troubles, Bishop Potter said: "As for the labor troubles, and especially those of the coal miners, I cannot say much. If I could do anything to bring them to an end I would gladly do it. If the miners wish my services as arbitrator or if they want me to act as mediator for them I would gladly do so."

France's Trade With Canada.

Paris, Aug. 6.—The Gaulois points out that under the commercial treaty concluded between France and Canada in 1893, France will benefit by any advantage which Canada gives Great Britain.

INTO FAIRY LAND THE GUESTS WENT

CHARMING LAWN FETE GIVEN LAST EVENING

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jackman, Miss Jennie Rowe, and R. W. Jackman were the hosts and hostesses—Dancing and Merriment Ruled the Throng—The Guests Present.

Into fairy land 300 Janesville folk were ushered last evening. They strolled beside lines of dancing light. Fountain spray turned to rubies and emeralds before them. Night was changed to day for their pleasure.

It took more than a second glance to bring realization of how such a transformation had been effected. O. W. Jackman's spacious residence was a glow of light. Japanese lanterns made a many colored line about the lawn and dotted its green expanse with soft blurs of color. Over all there gleamed the white light of four arcs, which brought out the throng on the floor in strong relief.

The dancing platform was large enough to accommodate a hundred couples without crowding or confusion and occupied a great part of the east lawn. At the north was the large refreshment tent where ices and cake were served. A round canopy near the front of the lawn sheltered a frappe bowl, and there were easy nooks about the grounds and on the piazzas for those weary of dancing.

The guests on arriving were received by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jackman, their niece, Miss Jennie Rowe, and their son, R. W. Jackman. A covered way led from the house to the dancing floor and as many of those whose inclination did not turn toward dancing found points of vantage in the parlors overlooking the lawn or on the vine-covered porch.

No detail was neglected that could have added to the pleasure of the guests or the charm of the evening. The music by Huyke's orchestra was so good as to evoke applause. Caterer George Shurtleff took full charge of the supper arrangements.

THE MARKET IS SATISFACTORY

The Leaf Notes an Improvement in the Tobacco Trade.

Taking into consideration the fact that July and August are the quiet months of the year, the present condition of our market is quite satisfactory, says The Leaf. This is the period between hay and grass as it were. Prospective buyers do not like to accept old samples at this time of the year, and it is yet too early to draw new samples, as most of the tobacco is still in a fermenting condition.

There has been a very good call for samples during the past ten days, which forbodes something better in a few weeks.

Among the sales reported are 50 cases of '92 sold by S. B. Heddles; 32 cases of old bought by A. L. Fisher and 14 cases of '96 fillers sold by N. J. Casey. F. S. Baines reports the sale of several hundred cases on his trip to the Pacific coast and Rudolph, Haviland & Son have had a fairly good trade. The growing tobacco still continues in a most satisfactory condition. A small amount of hail fell at the Eastern border of Dane county last Saturday, and this is the only damage that has befallen the crop in the entire state so far.

Topping is now becoming general and tobacco never looked better and more promising at this time of the year. Harvesting will begin in about a week in the earliest fields.

Another Tobacco Warehouse

A. F. Fisher, the well known leaf tobacco dealer, has purchased the large building at the northern end of Washington street, formerly used by the Victor Manufacturing Company, for storage purposes and will convert the same into a tobacco warehouse. The building will be moved onto the foundation of the former Victor factory and thoroughly fitted up for a first class tobacco warehouse. An assorting room will be built to accommodate thirty assorters. The storage capacity of the building will be about 2,000 cases and will make a desirable warehouse. James Cleland, father-in-law of Mr. Fisher, is associated in the deal and everything will be done to make a first-class warehouse. We bespeak for Mr. Fisher a goodly portion of the tobacco business of this section.

way that nothing could be saved. The building contained no stock, hay nor grain. A smaller barn adjoining, owned by Joseph Jessups, took fire and also burned. The Irving barn was insured for $1000.

Who Can You Believe ? ? ? ? ?
Were you to read the catalogue of every piano manufacturer in the United States you would find that about all claim to make the finest piano, the cheapest often making the greatest claims and having the most gilt upon the covers of their catalogues. You ask who can we believe. False prophets have made confusion in other days than these, so beware.
A personal examination of the interior of the many pianos will convince you that the REED & SONS PIANO is the finest finished piano in the world. You will admit this as you look into the matter more closely.

LICENSE OF THE PRESS.

A prominent New York paper printed, not long ago, a dispatch from Washington beginning thus: "President McKinley's Cuban policy is still a matter of much uncertainty."

We print this sentence not so much for the definite news it contains as for the unusual frankness it displays. It seems that there is something which a Washington correspondent does not know! His honesty in confessing ignorance is in striking contrast with the audacity of some of his fellow-correspondents who were asserting at the same time that "the President has determined" this, or "the administration has resolved" that.

Modern journalism of the lower class in England and in this country assumes that the public is not only interested in, but should be let into, everything which either the public welfare or the peace of private life requires to be kept secret. "The public desires to know" is its excuse for prying. If it succeeds in finding out, it blurs out the secret; if it fails, it invents something to pacify its constituency and to uphold its reputation for omniscience.

The application of a little common sense to a newspaper account of an occurrence will frequently help one to an almost certain conviction of its made-up character. For example, if we read that the King of Sweden on some occasion reproached his son for some act, we may set it down at once as a pure invention. Why? Because the rebuke would not be administered publicly, and neither the king nor the prince would tell any one about it if it had been given.

So, almost as surely, about administration secrets; for when the President wishes to reveal his policy he doesn't tell it to correspondents, nor to "leaky" friends. Those who assume to know, whether correspondents or congressmen, are merely guessing when they pretend to disclose the intentions of the President.

The fact that the guesses are not contradicted goes for nothing, both because some assertions could not be contradicted without revealing that which it is purposed to conceal, and because the President would find time for little else were he to undertake the contradiction of false rumors.

Possibly the conductors of sensational newspapers are, as they assert, controlled by the insatiable thirst of their readers for information regarding matters which do not concern them. In that case, the first step in reforming the newspaper by reforming the readers may be in pointing out to a credulous public that what is impossible is not made possible and true by putting it in print.—Youth's Companion.

A TALK WITH MRS. PINKHAM

About the Cause of Anemia.

Everybody comes into this world with a predisposition to disease of some particular tissue; in other words, everybody has a weak spot. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the weak spot in women is somewhere in the uterine system. The uterine organs have less resistance to disease than the vital organs; that's why they give out the soonest. Not more than one woman in a hundred—nay, in five hundred—has perfectly healthy organs of generation. This points to the stern necessity of helping one's self just as soon as the life powers seem to be on the wane. Excessive menstruation is a sign of physical weakness and want of tone in the uterine organs. It saps the strength away and produces anemia (blood turns to water). If you become anemic, there is no knowing what will happen. If your gums and the inside of your lips and inside your eyelids look pale in color, you are in a dangerous way and must stop that drain on your powers. Why not build up on a generous, uplifting tonic, like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Mrs. EDWIN EHRLIG, 413 Church St., Bethlehem, Pa., says: "I feel it my duty to write and tell you that I am better than I have been for four years. I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one package of Sanative Wash, one box of Liver Pills, and can say that I am perfectly cured. "Doctors did not help me any. I should have been in my grave by this time if it had not been for your medicine. It was a godsend to me. I was troubled with excessive menstruation, which caused womb trouble, and I was obliged to remain in bed for six weeks. Mrs. Pinkham's medicine was recommended to me, and, after using it a short time, was troubled no more with flooding. I also had severe pain in my kidneys. This, also, I have no more. I shall always recommend the Compound, for it has cured me, and it will cure others. I would like to have you publish this letter." (In such cases the dry form of Compound should be used.)

THE RATIO SMASHED.

Silver arguments have changed greatly in the last year. A year ago silver advocates stood before the farmers of the country and said that they had discovered a great and invariable law in the movement of the prices of wheat and of all other articles. The law was this, that all commodities dropped in price with the drop in silver. From this great discovery to the further discovery that the drop in silver bore to the drop in other commodities the relation of cause to effect was but a step. Wheat and other things fell in price because silver fell. Silver, of course, fell because of its demonetization, and demonetization constituted the "crime of '73." Undoubtedly this silverite pretense that the decline in silver was the cause of the decline in wheat deluded many farmers, and accounts for the strength of the silver folly in the agricultural communities. That fiction was unquestionably responsible for a large part of the 6,500,000 vote which was given to Bryan last year.

The farmers as well as the rest of the country now, though, have found out that there is no such law as that which Bryan, "Coin," Teller and the rest of the silver men have been proclaiming. While silver is going down, and has recently, touched the lowest mark ever reached by it, wheat is even more rapidly going up. Not only is wheat rising, but many other articles are increasing in price. Comparison of tables published recently in the trade journals show this advance movement very clearly. Almost every article of importance which men buy and sell is ascending except silver, and "lowests" in this commodity are likely to follow each other quickly in the future. The pretended relation between silver and the rest of the commodities is seen even by the most ignorant dupes of that delusion to be broken. It has often been broken in the past ten or twelve years, as any table of prices will show, though the masses of the silverites, who never consult price lists, were not aware of this. In reality there never was any fixed relation between silver prices and those of any other articles. Sometimes they went up and down together. More frequently, however, many of them moved in a different direction from the others. A decline in the demand is responsible for the drop in silver. A decrease in the supply while the demand naturally grows with the growth of the world's population accounts for the present rise in wheat. The explanation, that is to say, of the movement of one of these articles in the opposite direction from that of the other is very simple. The change in the relation between supply and demand determines the price of everything which is bought and sold. Naturally the change in this relation can not be in the same direction for all articles at the same time.

A GREAT YEAR.

It looks now as if the agricultural, mineral and forestry product of the United States would bring more money in 1897, than in any previous year in the history of the country. Manufacturing interests are steadily growing in export power. In this respect at least the trusts confer positive benefits. They give capital enough to enter consumer's markets in far away countries and meet competition without embarrassing either domestic labor or production. Promising projects are being presented to capitalists daily in such a way as to set much of the idle money in motion. Many of these plans call for the conquering of markets beyond the reach of any but the strongest combinations, and each one that succeeds opens places for tens of thousands of American working-men.

Milwaukee & St. Paul stock is marked by knowing people down east as likely to sell at par before long. The favorable trade conditions in Wisconsin have not been overlooked.

Silver is still falling in Mexico and importing merchants are embarrassed by exchange conditions.

THE DAY AT CAMP DOUGLAS

Members of the First Regiment Meet in a Sham Contest.

Camp Douglas Range, Wis., Aug. 5.—The great event for the First regiment is past, and a more tired lot of fellows could not be found tonight than the guardsmen of the two battalions after their long practice march and sham battle. Major Joachim started his battalion along the Tomah road, in heavy marching order, early this morning. Proceeding as if in an enemy's country, he established three lines of outposts in his van to guard against an ambush by the enemy. On the return march this afternoon he met the command of Major Stearns. After a skirmish along a mile or more of front the main bodies came up for a few minutes, the woods resounded with the rattle of musketry. Two of Stearns' companies having lost their way in the swamps, the rest of the command fell an easy prey to the first battalion and were brought to camp as captives.

The regimental rifle competition was closed this afternoon and the following are the successful contestants who will constitute the regimental team of sharpshooters:

Mason, Madison; Howe, Darlington; Wittmer, Monroe; Root, Janesville; Cutler, Whitewater; O'Dell, Monroe; Taylor, Whitewater; Milward, Madison; Dodge, Monroe; Shell, Fort Atkinson; Farriner, Madison; Pearl, Janesville.

IS IT A TRIFLE?

That Common Troubles, Acid Dyspepsia or Sour Stomach.

Now Recognized as a Cause of Serious Disease.

Acid dyspepsia, commonly called heartburn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to promptly digest it, the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas, and a bitter, sour, burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition soon becomes chronic and being an every day occurrence is given but little attention. Because dyspepsia is not immediately fatal many people do nothing for the trouble.

Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and is now becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. It is prepared by the Stuart Chemical Co., Marshall, Mich., and while it promptly and effectually restores a vigorous digestion at the same time is perfectly harmless and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life worth living.

A MAN WAS BEATEN BY BELOIT WOMAN

JOE McDOWELL NOW HERE IN JAIL.

Lady Belabored Him With an Umbrella And Then the Police Came and Carted Him Off to Jail, Where He Will Stay For Twenty Days—Other Court Notes.

Joe McDowell is up from Beloit for a twenty day stay at the jail—and thereby hangs a tale.

And a painful one for Joe.

A cruel fate did not let him escape with a simple beating at the hands of a woman, administered on the public highway, and in the public gaze, but the officers fell upon him, and locked him up.

And it was probably well—for him—that they did.

An irate mother—nameless, so far—was the chief actor in the scene. An umbrella—tightly rolled, and unyielding—figured also. So did McDowell—unwillingly, to be sure—but nevertheless prominently. The mother met McDowell on the street—Bridge street—at Beloit, and for the next few minutes—a matter of three, perhaps—things were lively. McDowell was thoroughly subdued—physically—in about that time, and each time the umbrella fell—the motion was rapid—he received a “piece of the woman’s mind.” Then the policeman—Marshal Appleby—laid hold of McDowell, and locked him up.

Now he’s Sheriff Acheson’s guest—not voluntarily, to be sure—but withal, a guest.

Sought For Vengeance.

They tell the story—at Beloit—as follows: For four long years—Beloit people say—the woman has been looking for the man. She said—Line City folks have alleged—that she would shoot him, and McDowell—having no particular ties to sever—left Beloit. Since then—until recently—he has stayed away. Policemen—the all-around advisors of the populace—told the woman to swear out a warrant for McDowell. The woman—knowing her own mind—refused. She said—and truthfully, as it would now appear—that the case was one that she could handle herself. McDowell—a tramp, if Beloit people tell the truth—came back in company with other persons said to be tramps. This was, generally speaking—some days ago, or more specifically—Friday week. Marshal Appleby—be of keen discernment—did not think the woman would shoot. When he—the marshal, to be more explicit—saw McDowell on the streets of Beloit, he looked about—toward the South—to see if he could see the woman. He saw her. She saw him. They saw each other—and both saw McDowell.

McDowell Gets “Licked.”

“There,” said the marshal—to the woman, of course—“is McDowell,” indicating—with his thumb—the location of the gentleman alleged to be from nowhere.

The woman—doubtless greatly surprised at seeing McDowell—said nothing. Gripping her umbrella—it was a stout one—she hastened across the street. McDowell—perhaps thinking he had been forgotten—was doing nothing, and seemed to be enjoying the occupation.

The woman—now thoroughly aroused—whacked him with the umbrella. McDowell—much absorbed—sought to retreat. The woman—strong in her anger as well as physically—followed him. Blows—not light ones—fell upon McDowell in a rain. In the meantime—a matter of three minutes, perhaps, as above stated—the marshal also took a hand—McDowell’s hand. Consequently—Beloit policemen have that way—McDowell was soon in jail, while the woman—still gripping the parasol—went home.

Then McDowell—smarting, it is said—was taken into court. The magistrate—Justice Booth, to be accurate—convicted and sentenced him—justly enough, Beloit people say—after hearing the evidence. In the common jail of the county—to use the legal name of Mr. Acheson’s resort—Mr. McDowell will stay for twenty days.

This—unless Beloit people are mistaken—covers the story in which the woman, the umbrella—and McDowell—figured.

Suit Over a Harvester.

Two of the leading harvesting machine companies had a clash in Justice Spencer’s court at Edgerton, and it was all about which should sell a customer a mower valued at forty dollars. An agent for the McCormick company secured an order for a machine from J. W. Sweeney of Porter. When it came to deliver the machine, Sweeney had changed his mind and bought a Deering. The suit was brought to enforce the contract by the McCormick people. The defense put up in court was that the McCormick machine tendered was not the latest improved pattern, but the jury thought differently, and gave a judgment in favor of the plaintiff for the amount of the claim. The Deering company, who doubtless stand back of Mr. Sweeney, the Reporter says, were represented by Attorney Swanson of Madison, while George Metcalfe and Judge Smith looked after the interests of the McCormick company in court.

Two Bad Beloitites.

The city of Beloit has decided to do without James McLode and Michael Tobin for the next thirty days. Last evening both gentlemen, in charge of Marshal George Appleby, arrived at the jail, whereupon they were assigned to a cell which will be their resting place until August 26. They are both charged with being common drunkards.

A. R. WHITE TALKS OF COAL STRIKE

READING AGENT SAYS END NOT IN SIGHT.

His Company Expect the Struggle to Be a Long Drawn Out Affair—Raise in Price Is Predicted—Says Dealers Are On Anxious Seat—Railroads Well Supplied.

Local consumers of coal can look for a raise in the price of the black diamonds in a few days.

The critical period has arrived and the great strike is to be felt in this city in more ways than one. So said A. R. White, who represents the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron company. Mr. White spent the day in Janesville looking over the local field. He told the dealers what his company thought of the effect of the strike on the retailer.

The Philadelphia and Reading Company controls fully one-half of the hard coal that is mined in this country. Hence, the deductions offered by Mr. White were thought to be of value. Mr. White said this morning that the situation is becoming more serious every day, and wholesalers, retailers and consumers are greatly interested. The consumers of hard coal will, for the present, be affected but little, but to all handlers of soft coal the strike is a of greater importance than it has been at any time since the beginning of the trouble. Although many large firms would like to make the general public believe that they are well stocked with soft coal, the truth of the matter now is, that they are on the anxious seat, just the same, Mr. White says.

Lost a Long Time.

“The opinion of our company is that arbitration will not be effective in settling the strike,” remarked Mr. White. “That the struggle will last several weeks yet, there seems to be but little doubt. Day by day the miners are joining new men by the hundreds to their forces, and with these facts facing the public, it doesn’t look much as if a settlement was in sight. Even if the strike should be settled today, it would be some time before the output would supply the demand.”

Local officials of both the Northwestern and the St. Paul roads were seen today and say they are not in the least worried over the soft coal situation.

“Although we have no coal to throw away,” remarked a Northwestern official this morning, “you can make a note of the fact that we are not laying awake nights for fear of an immediate famine.”

A representative of the St. Paul road says that company has 480 tons of soft coal in the local yards, and that they have more in sight when wanted.

HE LEASES THE OPERA HOUSE

Manager Stoddard Now Controls the Fond du Lac House, Too

The Fond du Lac Commonwealth says: “Terms were agreed upon late this afternoon whereby P. B. Haber has sold his interest in the Crescent opera house, including all scenery, furniture, etc., and after twenty years of opera house management at the Armory and Crescent, retires from the business: to be succeeded by W. H. Stoddard of Janesville. Mr. Stoddard has successfully managed the opera houses at Chippewa Falls, Red Wing and Janesville. He has entered into a contract and lease with the Laborers’ Benevolent association, whereby they agree during the ensuing year, to substantially improve the Crescent by raising the roof, putting in an entire new stage, and putting on a new front, which will add much to the appearance of the building. Mr. Stoddard is a gentleman of pleasing address, about thirty five years of age, and thoroughly familiar with the business. He will manage the Crescent in connection with the house at Janesville. The Commonwealth welcomes Mr. Stoddard to the business circles of this city, and wishes him success.”

A Gazette reporter called on Mr. Stoddard this afternoon, and showed him the above clipping. Mr. Stoddard confirmed the statements made therein.

LIDGERWOOD HAS BLOTTER

Bears Imprint of President’s Signature on Tariff Bill.

R. E. Lidgerwood, vice president of the Lewis Knitting company, has a valuable souvenir of the new tariff bill. Mr. Lidgerwood asked President McKinley for something which would be a souvenir of the time and money he has spent in working for a protective tariff, and Mr. McKinley graciously responded. He sent him the blotter which he used in drying the ink on the signature that made the Dingley bill a law. A new white blotter was used, and the impression made is quite distinct in reproducing the well known autograph of William McKinley. Next to the pen used in marking the signature, Mr. Lidgerwood thinks he has the valuable prize connected with the final act of the new tariff bill.

ACCEPTED THE WATER PLANT

Edgerton People Well Pleased With the Official Test.

The official test of the Edgerton Water Works system was held Wednesday afternoon and the result was acceptance by the city. The test was made according to the specification of the franchise, which set forth that when the water works were complete they should throw water from two separate hydrants at one and the same time, through one hundred feet of rubber hose and one inch nozzle to a height of one hundred feet, or a horizontal distance of one hundred and thirty-two feet. This they did and more too. The hydrants selected were, one on Albion street near Park Place and the other at the Commercial House corner. Water was thrown a distance of 195 feet, 63 feet farther than the contract called for. Four streams on Front street were put into the air high above any building and this was done with stand-pipe pressure only. The plant is here; it works to perfection; the city has accepted it; most everybody is glad of it the Reporter says.

SHELLS DIDN'T "GO" TO PAY HIS FINE.

HENCE HARRY BROWN IS NOW IN JAIL.

Couldn't Sell His Clams and So Couldn't Settle With the Court—Acquitted of One Charge, But Pleads Guilty To Another—Thirty Day Sentence Imposed.

If clam shells were marketable in Janesville today, Harry Brown, of Belvidere, Ill., would not have been taken to the Rock county jail this morning to serve out a thirty day sentence.

The prisoner is the young man whom a jury of six acquitted in the municipal court Wednesday afternoon, of stealing a gold watch and chain from George H. Shattuck’s restaurant last Sunday morning.

His freedom, however, was short lived.

This morning Brown, who was re-arrested Wednesday charged with robbing Asher Johnson, of Darien, pleaded guilty in the municipal court and was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs or a total of $29.41 or thirty days in jail.

The prisoner had no money, but he has stacked up along Rock river, several sacks of clam shells which he has gathered during the past three weeks. As there is no market for them at present, Judge Phelps refused to accept them as legal tender, and Brown was compelled to go to jail.

Attorney John H. Groesbeck appeared for the prisoner and attorney S. M. Smith appeared on the part of the state.

Woman's World.

Bran water is much esteemed as a wash for softening and whitening the skin. It is prepared as demand arises by putting a handful of bran in a bit of cheesecloth and tying the cloth into a bag. The bag is then squeezed in water a number of times, and the liquid is ready for use.

In warm weather the hair requires to be more carefully treated than in cold because the scalp is affected by perspiration and is more easily injured. The fine tooth comb, which is always to be avoided, is then especially injurious, discouraging the growth of the hair and wounding the skin. If the hair is very moist and clings together in locks, it may be cleaned and rendered more fluffy by powdering it thickly with starch and then brushing the starch all out again with a clean, dry brush.

It is a great assistance in keeping the feet in good condition to allow them to remain bare for a few minutes every day ex-upon the reactionary powers which is too strong for them.

Today's illustration shows a little child's seaside costume. It consists of a plaited skirt of white pique, ornamented with pearl buttons in front, and a white pique blouse. Over this is worn a short, loose jacket of scarlet cloth, scalloped around the edge and adorned with pearl buttons and a sailor collar of white pique. The hat of white straw is trimmed with red ribbons. This costume would also be pretty made of striped dark blue and white galatea cloth, with a dark blue serge jacket, and would also be more useful.

WHITE IS FASHIONABLE.

Dainty Chip and Lace Hats—Costume of Glace Silk.

White in every department of the wardrobe is enjoying a degree of fashionable favor which it really deserves on account of its universal becomingness, freshness and refinement.

Tailor made gowns of white serge, pique or cloth are becoming a decided vogue this posed to the light and air. They are usually kept in a close prison of leather all the time except at night, when they are smothered in bedclothes, and it is a wonder that they bear their burden with as little complaint as they do. If they are fatigued and aching from overwalking, rubbing them with alcohol will be found to give relief, especially if they are first bathed in hot water.

Now that trimmed skirts are gaining an actual hold on public favor the fancy for decoration which simulates or suggests a yoke is obvious. The costume illustrated, which is of laurel green cloth, exemplifies this. The skirt is trimmed at the foot by two bands of green satin ribbon, while three bands of the ribbon are arranged in V's at the top around the hips. The bolero is ornamented by satin ribbon and applications of guipure and has revers of cream grosgrain silk. The close sleeves, slightly bouffant at the top, and the epaulets are also trimmed with green ribbon. The chemisette and cravat are of white crepon, two bands of green ribbon forming a corselet. The hat is of bright green straw, trimmed with cream taffeta and cherries with foliage.

SEA BATHING.

Whom It Will Benefit and How It Should Be Taken.

A vast number of persons rush to the seaside in warm weather without stopping to think or to find out whether it is the place for them or not or whether they would not be better off somewhere else. Sea air and sea bathing, pleasant as they are, do not agree with everybody, and many would do better to seek a mountain rather than a sea change. However, the ocean has strong medicinal properties which are frequently extremely beneficial. In cases of nerve fatigue, general debility, weakness after illness and a lowered condition proceeding from sedentary occupations sea air and sea bathing have an excellent effect.

Sea bathing is injurious in cases of fever and inflammation because its first tendency is to send the blood inward to the inflamed parts. It is also apt to aggravate skin diseases and to have a prejudicial effect on persons suffering from pulmonary complaints. The difference in temperature between the body and the water renders it necessary to take certain precautions, no matter how well sea bathing may agree with the individual. The bath should never be taken immediately after rising from bed, as the skin is then so relaxed, moist and warm as to be too sensitive to the chill. Nor should it be taken after violent exercise for the same reason. Soon after eating it stops the process of digestion, and after great exertion or in cases of extreme feebleness it makes a demand

Thin Materials and Soft Colors—Bodice of Plaid Foulard.

Bodices different from the skirt, although no longer admitted to the list of gowns suitable for elaborate functions, are nevertheless still well established in fashionable favor for general wear. They are very serviceable for varying the costume at moderate expense and simplify the question of "making over" to a vast extent. Vests and boleros also add to the variety of the costume, and when arranged so as to be interchangeable are a great convenience.

The mode favoring very diaphanous gowns of soft colors and delicately adorned, hats must necessarily follow suit and be also light and vaporous. Tulle, mousseline de soie and crepe de chine, gathered and puffed, form many very pretty ones, and boas or tiny capes, similarly trimmed, often accompany them.

The necessary qualities of a traveling costume are lightness of weight, convenience of style, durability of material and non-susceptibility to the defacing influences of sun, dust and rain. There is not a great variety of fabrics or of colors which will fill all the requirements. Serge, chevot, tweed, thin diagonal and covert suitings are the best materials, while gray, tan and beige, with the addition possibly of navy blue, although that shows dust easily, are the best tints. For shirt waists, if a coat and skirt costume is worn, nainsooks and dimities are not admissible, as they quickly wilt and lose their freshness. Galatea cloth, coutil, holland and seersucker make excellent bodices for hard usage, as their firm texture keeps them neat looking. For summer the skirt need not be lined, and a dust cloak of glace taffeta or gloria silk will complete the costume very nicely. The new belted jackets, in which the belt passes inside the loose fronts by means of an opening in the underarm seam, are much liked for traveling wear, as they are both convenient and fashionable. Fancy collars, and, in fact, all effects easily damaged and demanding careful attention from the wearer, are to be avoided.

The illustration given in today's issue shows a bodice of red, beige and white plaid foulard. It is plaited under a sort of square yoke of foulard, trimmed with guipure insertion, and has a chemisette and plastron of white plaited gauze. The tight sleeves have very small bouffants at the top and are finished at the wrist with red surah cuffs that extend upon the hand. The belt and collar are of red surah, and the collar is finished with plaid tabs edged with guipure.

FASHION'S FANCIES.

Louis Quinze Bows of Mechlin Lace For Skirt Trimmings.

Fashion, which is never satisfied without developing some phases which make a heavy demand upon the purse, now decrees that it is a very nice thing indeed and exceedingly correct to have the gown embroidered with flowers like those which ornament the hat. The more delicate parts of the floral pattern are painted, the rest embroidered, and this decoration is placed on both corsage and skirt. Such costumes are, of course, very costly.

Upon "dress up" gowns of both hatiste and silk are often seen incrustations of mechlin or other lace arranged in patterns. Sometimes they form Louis Quinze bows, unrolled ribbons or medallions, all, of course, in close, flat application.

Gowns of white muslin, worn over tinted silk, are often shirred around the shoulders to form a yoke, and also around the hips, from the waist line down several inches. Plaited skirts are also aiding to gradually influence the mode out of the direction of the plain, close skirt.

Many women wear black costumes to a great extent as being more becoming and more generally useful for a limited wardrobe than those of diverse tints. In this case a bright colored silk petticoat and a silk flounce of the same color in the inside of the black skirt will add much to the elegance of the toilet.

A sketch is given of a costume of cream linen over pink silk. The skirt is trimmed with lace insertion, forming a design of Louis Quinze bowknots. The bodice is adorned in the same fashion and closes at the side under coquilles of lace, headed by a ruche of old rose taffeta. The half length sleeves also have bowknots of insertion and are finished by a frill of lace and a ruche of old rose taffeta, and the collar is similarly arranged. The belt is of old rose taffeta. The hat of white gauze is trimmed with bowknots of old rose velvet and with black plumes.

FASHIONABLE ACCESSORIES.

The Popular Ruches—High, Soft Collars For All Corsages.

Voluminous ruches, collarettes, bows and short capes are seen in great profusion. They are of the thinnest and lightest materials possible and very much trimmed and ornamented. Tulle, gauze, mousseline de soie and net are the accepted goods for their composition, lace, flowers, ribbons and ostrich tips forming the decoration, spangles being also frequently added.

For young and slender women the ruche just long enough to pass around the neck fastening in front with two ribbons, a buckle or a bunch of flowers, is desirable. If it is wished to have something fall over the front of the bodice, the bow may be lengthened, tapering toward the ends, and a plaited strip of mousseline de soie—or edged with lace—may be fastened at each side of the neck. A ruche which encircles the neck should be fuller and thicker at the back than in front. It is of course composed of a number of strips, and each should be shirred separately and sewed, one against another, on a ribbon a little larger than the exact measure of the collar. In order that the ruche may not flatten down behind, a knot of ribbon, the erect coques of which are stiffened with wire, is placed at the back of the neck.

If it is desired to convert the ruche into a light covering for the shoulders, this may be done by adding to the lower edge a double frill of plaited mousseline de soie 8 or 9 inches wide. The mousseline de soie should be very full, and the lower ruffle may be of a color, the upper one being black.

Corsages continue to be finished with high, erect collars, very much trimmed with ruches, especially at the back, and stiffened with whalebone to keep them in place.

The illustration given today shows a house jacket of sky blue surah. It is fitted behind, but falls in straight, round plaits in front, being shirred at the top in yoke form. There are six organ plaits altogether, and the outer two on each side are ornamented with horizontal bands of white lace insertion and finished with a lace ruffle at the bottom. There is a large collar composed of white lace and sky blue satin ribbon and turn back cuffs to match. The neck and wrists are edged with lace frills.

CRABBED AGE AND YOUTH.

Accordion Plaited Costume For a Girl Twelve Years Old.

White is more universally becoming than any color. It is worn by the newly born as well as by the aged and symbolizes the purity of one as well as of the other. The general desire of mankind is to live to be very old, and often indeed extreme age induces pride not only in the aged one himself or herself, but in the aged one's relatives. To have a connection well on in the nineties, or even a friend, is to have a sort of reflected glory. Persons who have achieved nothing in the world of letters or art may nevertheless acquire distinction through the mere merit of long life if it extends beyond the usual limits. For very old ladies nothing is more charming than pure white, which recalls the innocence and helplessness of infancy and harmonizes with the sunny hair and pallor of old age. White caps, white kerchiefs and cuffs, even white gowns in warm weather, are the fit accompaniments of white hair and a colorless skin.

Nevertheless there is no reason why an aged woman should not wear colors if she prefers them. Picturesqueness is the prerogative of great age. It is no longer necessary to enter to the figure, the complexion, the style. Age reduces all to one level, and it is only requisite to observe the demands of dignity and picturesqueness.

The sketch given in today's issue shows a costume for a girl of 11 or 12 years of age. It has an accordion plaited skirt of red foulard. The accordion plaited bodice of foulard is ornamented with horizontal bands of guipure and is closed at the left side under a plaiting of red foulard. The close sleeves have an epaulet of guipure falling over a full plaiting of red mousseline de soie. The collar and belt are of black satin. The hat of red straw is trimmed with red and white plaid ribbon and black quills.

A Little More Cost Brings Big Profits.

The addressing, folding, inclosing, sealing and stamping of five thousand circulars, with postage, will cost at least $65, whether the circular is good or bad. Notwithstanding this fixed charge, some strive to save a dollar or two on the cost of printing, although the goods advertised are to be judged by the character of the printing, just as a house is judged by the character of its salesmen. Good printing costs but little more, and that "little more" brings greater returns than any other part of the cost. Order your printing where good work is assured.

COULD TALK ABOUT FLIES.

Dull Pupil Proved He Was Not a Fool
—His Specialty.

One of the speakers at a banquet given here recently, says the Washington Post, dwelt at some length upon a man's natural aptitude to the vocation in life he pursued, and attributed as a result of so many failures the fact that a majority of mankind were following vocations not in bent with their natural inclinations. He told an interesting story illustrating his meaning from one of his schoolboy recollections, as follows: "At my first school there was a boy to whom the teacher could not succeed in imparting the simplest rules of elementary knowledge. Try as she might, her efforts were failures. Her patience, after exhaustless trials, turned to despair. One day, when he seemed duller than usual, she sent him from the recitation bench to his seat with a severe reprimand, promising to recommend his dismissal to the trustees. Shortly afterward she observed him bending over some pursuit at his desk. His eyes were lighted with an expression that seemed inspiration. Anxious to know the cause of this almost miraculous transformation from sloth that was sluggish to activity that was life, she passed down the aisle by his desk on some pretext that would not disturb him, and found the cause of his glowing study to be the examination of a fly, which he had caught and was examining, having dissected it into parts. The truth dawned upon the teacher. The boy's mind ran to entomology. He was a born naturalist. The teacher said nothing but that afternoon called up the entire class for general recitation. The boy's appearance was as dull as ever. 'Boys,' said the teacher, addressing the entire school, 'I want to see how far your general powers of observation on trivial subjects go. For instance, you have all seen thousands of flies. Now, I want each one of you to tell me his impression of a fly.' Beyond the fact that a fly was a fly and had two wings not one of the school could say anything further. At the first mention of the subject the dull boy was all glow. He held up his hand and snapped his fingers. He realized his superiority. It was his day. He told of the fly from a general and analytical standpoint, its interior and exterior construction, its habits, its food, its generation and its propensities. The rest of the school sat astonished. The boy went on and launched into a general description of bugs and insects he had caught in the woods. From that day the teacher encouraged his peculiar aptitude and troubled him no more with the rules of grammar and arithmetic. She went into the woods with him and helped in his studies of nature. She brought the attention of the school trustees to his case and, to make a long story short, he was sent to Europe for study. In Leipzig he was made moderator of the National Conservatory of Science. He held for a time an important position in the Smithsonian, at Washington, D. C., and he is now in Paris, one of the leading entomologists of the world."

LITERATURE.

The Diseases of Modern and the Health of Classic Styles.

Modern literature has been more or less sentimental since Petrarch, a morbidly subjective strain has existed in it since Rousseau, while of late a quality is beginning to appear which we cannot better describe than as neurotic, says the Atlantic. We simply say, to paraphrase an utterance of Chamfort's, that the success of some contemporary books is due to the correspondence that exists between the state of the author's nerves and the state of the nerves of the public. Spiritual despondency, which, under the name of acedia, was accounted one of the seven deadly sins during the middle ages, has come in these later days to be one of the main resources of literature. Life itself has recently been defined by one of the lights of the French deliquescent school as "an epileptic fit between two nothings."

It is no small resource to be able to escape from these miasmatic exhalations of contemporary literature into the bracing atmosphere of the classics, for of him who has caught the profounder teachings of Greek literature we may say, in the words of the "imitation," that he is released from a multitude of opinions. We may apply to authors like Sophocles and Plato, and to those who have penetrated their deeper meaning the language the Buddhists used to describe their perfect sage—language which will at once remind the scholar of the beginning of the second book of Lucretius: "When the learned man has driven away vanity by earnestness, he, the wise, climbing the terraced heights of wisdom, looks down upon the fools. Serene he looks upon the toiling crowd, as one that stands on a mountain looks down on them that stand upon the plain."

THE TROLLEY BUZZ.

And Something About the Trolley Cars as a Cure for Headache.

"Ever hear of the trolley buzz?" said a Brooklyn resident whose business is in New York. "They say that some people who travel regularly on the trolley cars get the trolley buzz. You know the sound of the trolley, the buzz-z-z-z that begins low and rises gradually as the car increases in speed, keeping a uniform tone when the car is running at uniform speed, and then declining again as the car runs slower and stopping when the car stops? They say there are people who travel regularly on the trolleys who hear this sound all the time wherever they are, except when they are asleep. They call this having the trolley buzz. I never had the trolley buzz, but the trolley cars sometimes do me a great deal of good. They cure me of headache. I work here all day, keeping very busy, and sometimes when I start home at night I have a hard headache. I get into a trolley car and take a seat over one of the axles. They say that no electricity gets into the car, but I imagine there must be more or less of it in the air. I know there is something there that cures my headache. I sit down in the car with the headache bad; I get down from it after a ride of about three miles, feeling bright and fresh and with the headache gone."

Easy Going Dutch Spelling.

In the good old days when the Dutch were supreme in the administration of the affairs of New Amsterdam everybody knew everybody else and it mattered little how proper names were spelled. Modern lawyers and civil service reformers would be shocked at the orthographical freedom of the clerks of the burgo-master's court of those times. Here is a sample case taken from the old Dutch records now being translated by Mr. Fernow, in which the name of a plaintiff is spelled five different ways: In a case before the court in 1655 Jan "Hacksins" is a complainant against the inspector of tobacco, who has certified to Jan "Hockins" that the tobacco was good. The inspector says in his defence that he inspected the tobacco at the request of Jan "Haeckins" on June 26, and aforesaid "Hagins" kept the barrel of tobacco until the 30th without finding out that it was bad. Then Jan "Hacksins" has something else to say in the case.

Close at Hand, Very.

Jaded Cyclist (scarcely good for another five minutes)—How far is it to Brooklyn, my man? Native—Brooklyn, sir? Oh, you be close on it. Jaded Cyclist (joyfully)—Which way? Native—Straight up that steep 'ill there, turn to the left for about four mile, then cross the bridge and follow the telegraph posts for a stretch, then sharp round to the right, and Brooklyn ain't more'n two m— Jaded cyclist faints.

An Inquiry.

Inventor—This is a new gas meter. While the gas is burning the meter acquires such a momentum that it keeps going after the gas has been turned off. Gas Official—I understand. But in what respect does it differ from the meters now in use?

Milestones on the Road to Health.

The recovery of digestion, and the resumption of activity by the liver, bowels and kidneys, are milestones which mark our progress on the road to health. They speedily become permanent when the stomach, bowels and kidneys are by the invalid. Nothing so surely and expeditiously consumes the distance to the desired goal. As no bodily function can suffer interruption without impairing the general health of the system, so the system can never acquire perfect vigor, health's synonym, until that function be actively resumed. Take, for instance, digestion, a suspension of which is invariably rectified by the Bitters. If the organs upon which it depends grow weak, biliousness, constipation, headache, poverty of blood and a hundred other symptoms supervene which indicate unmistakably the beneficial general influence of dyspepsia. The disappearance of all these symptoms, through the use of the Bitters, show with what thoroughness it removes their cause.

A Remarkable Cure of Chronic Diarrhoea.

In 1862, when I served my country as a private in Company A, 167th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contracted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me a great deal of trouble ever since. I have tried a dozen different medicines and several prominent doctors without any permanent relief. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after that I bought and took a 50 cent bottle; and now I can say that I am entirely cured. I cannot be thankful enough to you for this great Remedy, and recommend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt write me. Yours gratefully, HENRY STEINBERGER, Allentown, Pa. Sold at C. D. Stevens' pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy always affords prompt relief. Sold at C. D. Stevens' pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

It is always gratifying to receive testimonials for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and when the endorsement is from a physician it is especially so. "There is no more satisfactory or effective remedy than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Dr. R. E. Robey, physician and pharmacist, of Olney, Mo.; and as he has used the Remedy in his own family and sold it in his drug store for six years, he should certainly know. For sale at C. D. Stevens' pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.
